

FROM GREECE.

Letter of the King to the National Assembly—He makes certain demands—Excitement in the Assembly.

The National Assembly of Greece has been now holding its sessions for some months past, and had come to nearly the close of the new Constitution which was forming.

THE SECOND NATIONAL ASSEMBLY OF THE GREEKS HELD IN ATHENS.

Invited by the persistent call of Greece, I yielded to her voice, under the persuasion that as far as depended on me, she would fulfill her obligations toward me.

THE UNION OF THE IONIAN ISLANDS WITH THE REST OF THE KINGDOM was effected some time ago. The actual appearance of some of the representatives of that country in the National Assembly, during the last two months, and more removed every obstacle to the immediate completion of the Constitution upon the basis of a draft prepared a year ago by the committee appointed for that purpose.

As an imperative duty, then, toward the Greek people, as well as to those interests which are soon to be confined to me by the Constitution, I reserve to myself such liberty of action with regard to my future resolution as my disappointed expectations shall dictate.

CITY ITEMS.

THANKSGIVING DINNER FOR OUR SOLDIERS.—We would again call attention to the arrangements in progress for presenting our brave boys in the field and about with a meal, but let us hope not a bare one.

DESERTING AND STEALING THE FURNITURE OF THE PRESIDENT'S MANSION.—Persons of both sexes have been guilty of clipping pieces from the window curtains, sofa, lounge and covers. They are going to be prosecuted by the attorney general.

The usual routine business having been transacted a resolution was offered by Mr. Hardy that the Mayor be authorized to give a reward of $1,000 to any person who should give such information as would lead to the arrest and conviction of the person shooting Officer Newcomb when on duty.
